READING

A Gentle Light

In the quiet of the night, a gentle light,
Shines down from heaven, radiant and bright.
A love that warms us, like the sun above,
An earthly echo of God's boundless love.

We gather here, with hearts so full,
To remember one, who made life beautiful.
A mother's touch, a love so grand,
A legacy that forever stands

With each passing day, we'll carry on,
In the love we've known, forever strong.
A mother's love, a passing grace,
In God's embrace, she finds her place.
