Words of Welcome

A Poem

Written by Dale, with words from Catherine and Carole

*Born in the thirties, when folk had nowt
But Dorothy was certainly, a woman with clout.
World War Two came and went
But our Dolly's courage never took any dents.
Ten years later, she found her true love
A perfect fit, like a hand in a glove
Three beautiful girls, called all the C's
She entered motherhood, with the greatest of ease.
Times were hard for the Lancashire lasses
But mum always taught us, had always passes.
A meal she could make, with just a few crumbs
Baked with love, to fill little tums.
A lady, in the true sense of the word
And so caring, like the tiniest bird.
So for all of the times, we didn't say.
The love we felt, for you every day.
I wish you could read this, to see what it does
And to show how much, you meant to us.*
