Integrity is telling myself the truth. And honesty is telling the truth to other people. If you tell the truth, you don't have to remember anything. The greatness of a man is not in how much wealth he acquires, but in his integrity and his ability to affect those around him positively

With lots of love
Manzar and John

The family would like to thank you all for your kind support during this time of sadness. Refreshments will be served at John's home in Astley
