Ashlyn's life would have been filled with love and friendship from so many people around her. She is a little sister to her 7 brothers and sisters who I know would have doted on her - Eloise, Harvey, Frankie, Ava-Berry, Alfie, Lottie, Gracie-Leigh and Dolcie-Tone. As well as having the love and support from mummy and daddy who as Molly said, are glued together for life, she also had Abbie who said how she would have loved for Ashlyn and Lottie to grow up together.

*They would have had a special bond.
And a bond that was very special to all of the family, a bond that will never break is their bond with Alfie who sadly passed away at just 3 years old.*

Tribute from mummy

*Our sweet baby girl was born sleeping, as precious as a diamond in the sky.
Our baby grew her Angel wings that day and it was time for our Angel to fly.
So at first we were in denial and asking everyone,
please tell us this isn't true.
But then our denial turned into anger
when we finally had to let our baby go.
Our anger suddenly switched to sadness
before we had to lay our Angel to rest.
Before we knew it we were in despair
even though we knew that God only takes the best.
Our hearts were missing a big piece,
the day our Angel went away.
So now our hearts are stuck with this pain
and we just cry every day.
Why is this awful thing happening to us?
Will our broken hearts ever mend?
We just keep thinking about our Angel
and we hope we can be happy once again.*
