Mark

I honestly don't know how to feel or how all the family feel. What I can say is you hear twins say they felt or could feel at the time! I didn't Mark but I think what they feel is what I am feeling now and I honestly can't explain it. I feel broken, I feel lost and hurt. I also feel honoured that I got to share 48 years with you.

You had a big heart and such a lovely nature. I will miss your quirky ways, your ideas of great nights (watching vampire movies all night and sleeping all day!).

I am so sorry I couldn't be strong enough for us both, wishing if only things could be different. I also wish you knew how important you were to me and everyone. You will live on in me and my kids this I promise. I will remember you everyday of my life. I'm glad you don't have to fight the demons anymore and I'm happy you can finally be at peace.

Until we are side by side again.

I love you brother.
