WELCOME & INTRODUCTION

Poem - Summer & Fall By Nona Keen Duffy

Today it is still summer,
Tomorrow it will be fall,
I see the purple asters,
I hear the autumn's call.

I feel the warm sun shining
As a balmy south wind blows;
I see more flowers blooming,
And I see the grass still grows;

The goldenrod is waving,
The bees are in the clover.
I hear a distant honking -
The geese are flying over.

The maple leaves are golden;
The pumpkins, round and yellow.
The apple cheeks are rosy,
The pears are getting mellow.

The nuts are growing rounder,
The cornstalks, brown and sear.
By twenty lovely tokens
I know the fall is near.

Today it is still summer,
Tomorrow will be fall.
Today I am still barefoot -
Oh, how I love it all!

WORDS OF FAREWELL

COMMITAL

Poem - One at rest (Anon)

Think of me as one at rest,
for me you should not weep
I have no pain no troubled thoughts
for I am just asleep.
The living thinking me that was,
is now forever still
And life goes on without me now,
as time forever will.
If your heart is heavy now,
because I've gone away
Dwell not long upon it friend
For none of us can stay
Those of you who liked me,
I sincerely thank you all.
And those of you who loved me,
I thank you most of all.
And in my fleeting lifespan,
as time went rushing by
I found some time to hesitate,
to laugh, to love, to cry.
Matters it now if time began
if time will ever cease
I was here, I used it all, and now I am at peace.
