Words Of Welcome

Poem - Gail

On the computer, on the phone
Using your hands to mime
Explaining to the Spanish folk
It rains in England all the time

From Only fools and horses
And being a bit of a Del Boy
To cups of tea and eating nuts
You filled the world with joy

We'll remember all the cheekiness
And all the dad jokes galore
But how could we ever forget
You owned some land, my lord

Exploring the world with your beautiful wife
On cruise ships and on planes
Sharing all about your adventures
In our hearts and minds they remain

God saw you getting tired
And yes I did just say the G word
Even with your hearing aid
You have definitely not Misheard

We know you're looking down on us
And are with us every day
Best husband and best father
Best grandad in every single way
