Hymn
We plough the fields and scatter
by Matthias Claudius

We plough the fields and scatter
The good seed on the land,
But it is fed and watered By God's almighty hand;
He sends the snow in winter,
The warmth to swell the grain,
The breezes and the sunshine,
And soft refreshing rain.

All good gifts around us
Are sent from heaven above;
Then thank the Lord, O thank the Lord,
For all His love.

He only is the Maker
Of all things near and far;
He paints the wayside flower,
He lights the evening star;
The winds and waves obey Him,
By Him the birds are fed;
Much more to us, His children,
He gives our daily bread.

We thank Thee, then, O Father,
For all things bright and good;
The seedtime and the harvest,
Our life, our health, our food.
 No gifts have we to offer
 For all Thy love imparts,
But that which Thou desirest,
Our humble, thankful hearts.

Losing You Sweetheart

I knew you could not stay with me that one day you would slip away, but quietly losing you so suddenly tore me apart despite what I knew.
Now there is an aching emptiness inside the heart of me that echoes with the silence of life without you, but your haecceity remains true it is warming my misery and loss as it burns on the edges of grief and begins to turn the corrosive sad madness from losing you to introspection and memories richly full of love and affection, which may one day heal me but I will always be without you.

Afterwards

We shall be meeting up at:
