Gayle and Doug

met at the University of Paisley, West of Scotland in 2004.

While it was love at first sight, it would take them another 20 years before they were finally ready to commit to each other in a legally recognised relationship.

After years of pursuing their own paths in different countries, their paths converged again in London, when they moved in together in 2013. With two tiny daughters, Sylvie (2017) and Isabel (2020), and a house of their own (2021), they are leading happy and chaotic lives as parents together, in the next step of their journey.
