

On Our Wedding Day

8th June 2024

Mrs Alicia Lucking (to be)

This morning is a time to savor, and today is a day free of stress. We've done all our planning, we've put in the work, and now it's time to enjoy ourselves and look forward to our future together in married life.

It's been over four years since we met on that unforgettable Belzona night out. What a whirlwind it has been! The time has absolutely flown by. In those years, we've become best friends, started dating, moved in together, traveled, and grown as people together. And now, we're getting married. It all feels just right.

I've always tried to help you along the way by finding solutions to problems, but it has taken me years to realise, that you don't need me to fix problems. You just need me by your side, supporting you. I may not always express myself perfectly in that regard, but as your husband, I promise to always be in your corner, always be on your side, and always love you.

You are funny, kind, gorgeous, and everything I want in a soulmate. I can't wait to say 'I do.'

To my future wife,

I love you, always and forever.
