Poem

A Wink and a Smile, Forever
Dear
In the midst of tears, a laughter rings,
A funny memory, your humour brings,
A strong woman, with wit and flair,
A wink and a smile, forever dear.
You taught us laughter, in the face of strife,
A joy unyielding, a zest for life, We'll celebrate your humour, your loving tease,
A funny poem, to set our hearts at ease.
In every chuckle, a memory made,
A strong woman's laughter,
never to fade, We'll remember you fondly, with every smile,
A love that lingers, through every mile.

Carol had a vast career starting in Clerk of the Royal Courts of Justice before going on to the runs A Public House The Nine Stiles then working In the Craftmans Jewllers and finishing her working career in Airport Security.

Carol Loved Spending time with her Husband Peter and they had many holidays abroad, coming back to tell us about their crazy antics and wind ups, mostly at the expense of Peter.
Later in life dogs arrived in her life starting with Jay Jay then Eddie and Bertte
She loved to spend time with her Grand children laughing and doing silly things to make them Giggle.
