Excerpt from 'The Little Prince'
Antoine de Saint-Exupery

You -- You alone -- will have the stars as noone else has them.
In one of the stars I shall be living.
In one of them I shall be laughing.
And so it will be as if all the stars were laughing, when you look at the sky at night.
You -- only you -- will have stars that can laugh!

When this body comes to die,
Set me on the headland high,
Where sun and rain go marching by,
Raven lord of wave and sky.

When I free my final breath,
Lay me down on gentle earth,
Where the dove shades holy garth,
And rivers run to meet the firth.

Eilean Mor Sgiathach

When my spirit passes over,
Float me on air's mountain floor,
Where the feathered ramparts soar,
And the eagles golden hover,

Thank you for coming to remember Dan with us. He was a much loved Dad, Grampa, brother, friend and more, and we hope you continue to talk about him and keep his memory alive. He'll be missed more than words can explain.
