Tribute to Mothers

*They will disappear, those parents who are taking so long to make way for you.
That mother whose old age imposes duties on you which find inconvenient,
They will disappear those careful watchers of your childhood, those lovely protectors of your adolescence.*

*They will disappear, and you will search in vain for better friends.
They will disappear and as soon as they are no longer here, they will strike you in a new light, because time - which makes older those who are alive - makes them seem younger, as soon as death has taken them away.*

APPRECIATION

Alice and the family would like to thank you all for your kind support and lovely words during this time of sadness. We'd also like to thank Manor House funerals for their care and support.

Refreshments will be served after the service at:

The Grey Horse, Front Street, East Boldon, NE36 0S7
