---- Welcome ----

- Opening Words -

- Poem -

Grandad's Gone Fishing

I thought I'd better let you know
The reason I've gone missing
I'm where there is a ten pound angel fish
That's right I've just gone fishing

A man named Peter at some gates
Asked if I'd had permission
My angler's license got me in
And now I'm happy fishing

The waters are crystal clear
Better than the River Severn
You get a bite at every cast
In this lovely river in heaven

My old friends casting by my side
And my dear mum I'm a kissin
Don't worry all, I'm happy here
Yes, I've simply gone fishing.

- Portrait of Baz in words -

A time of shared reflection as we listen to a song sang by Bethany - 'Love is all around'
