SECULAR CEREMONY

INTRODUCTION SPEECH

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF LOVE: Carlotta and Tony, your journey leading up to this day has been filled with shared experiences, laughter, and moments that have shaped your bond. Your love for each other has grown through understanding, and support, and it is a testament to your deep and genuine connection.

READING: "At first glance, the key and the lock it fits may seem very different. Different in shape, different in function, different in design. The man who looks at them without knowledge of their true nature might think them opposites, for one is meant to open, and the other to keep closed. Yet, upon closer examination he might see that without one, the other becomes useless. The wise man then sees that both lock and key were created for the same purpose." - Brandon Sanderson, The Well of Ascension.
