Bless the Lord oh my soul
Oh my soul
Worship His Holy name
Sing like never before
Oh my soul
I'll worship Your Holy name

The sun comes up
It's a new day dawning
It's time to sing Your song again
Whatever may pass
And whatever lies before me
Let me be singing
When the evening comes

Bless the Lord oh my soul
Oh my soul
Worship His Holy name
Sing like never before
Oh my soul
I'll worship Your Holy name

The Bride and Groom

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (15.5% of the population).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health and social care needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a strategy for the 21st century, which includes a commitment to 'improve the health and quality of life of older people'. The Department of Health (2000) also states that 'the health and social care needs of older people are not being met adequately'. This paper reports on a study that was conducted to explore the health and social care needs of older people in the UK.

Methodology

Study design

The study was a cross-sectional survey of the health and social care needs of older people in the UK. The survey was conducted in 1998.

The survey was conducted in two stages. In the first stage, a national survey of older people was conducted. In the second stage, a detailed survey of older people was conducted in a specific region.

The national survey was conducted using a stratified random sampling method. The population was divided into strata based on age, sex, and region. A random sample of older people was selected from each stratum.

The detailed survey was conducted using a purposive sampling method. Older people were selected based on their health and social care needs.

The survey was conducted using a self-administered questionnaire. The questionnaire was designed to explore the health and social care needs of older people.

The questionnaire was divided into two sections. The first section explored the health needs of older people. The second section explored the social care needs of older people.

The health needs section included questions about the following:

• Current health status

• Physical health

• Mental health

• Chronic conditions

• Functional status

• Health care needs

The social care needs section included questions about the following:

• Current social care needs

• Physical care

• Mental care

• Financial care

• Housing care

• Transport care

• Other social care needs
