POEM READING - 'FEEL NO GUILT IN LAUGHTER'

*Feel no guilt in laughter, he'd know how much you care.
Feel no sorrow in a smile that he is not here to share.
You cannot grieve forever; he would not want you to.
He'd hope that you could live your life the way you always do.
So, talk about the good times and the way you showed you cared,
the days you spent together, all the happiness you shared.
Let memories surround you, a word someone may say will suddenly recapture a time, an hour or a day, that brings him back as clearly as though he were still here,
and fills you with the feeling that he is always near.
For if you keep those moments, you will never be apart and he will live forever locked safely within your heart.*

CLOSING WORDS

FRANK SINATRA*

Fred and his twin brother Alfie were born in Walthamstow in 1932, to Lilian and Alf.

The family moved to live in Bridge House on the River Lea Ponders End, in 1934. Their younger brother John would arrive in 1939.

It was the perfect playground for children and the family lived there until the 1950s. During this time, they would attend Alma School.

In 1950, Fred was sent to Iserlohn in Germany for his National Service, where he served for two years in the 10th Royal Hussars regiment. He would become proficient in rifle competitions.

Upon completing his service, Fred would marry his first wife, Margaret in 1953. They would have three children, Richard, born in 1956, followed by David in 1965, and Robert in 1967.

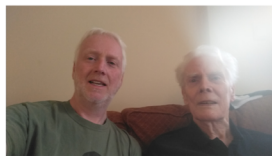

In 1975 he remarried, to Carol, who sadly passed away in 1977.

Fred would meet Sue, who was the landlady of the Hop Poles in Enfield and would later be married in 1981. They would have one child, Gary, in 1984. Sue would pass away in 1997.

Fred's boys gave him four Grandchildren: Christopher, Tara, Louisa, and Jake.

He would work as a Heavy Goods driver for the majority of his life and his sons would enjoy going to work with their dad during the School Holidays.

Fred was a resilient, and strong-willed man throughout his life. He was a lifelong supporter of Tottenham Hotspur and would take Richard to games as a child. In later years, he would again attend games with his sons, right up until late 2023. His last match would see Spurs win 2-1 at home to Sheffield United.
