Counting my blessings

written by Simon on 14th September 2020 and left with his will

Two weeks shy of my 65th birthday, just back from walking our adorable dog in our gorgeous park on a beautiful late-summer morning and filled with feelings of how lucky I am:

I love a wonderful woman, and she loves me

Thanks to her we live in a gorgeous house in a lovely part of the greatest city on earth

Thanks to me we have an idyllic cottage by the sea

I adore my stepsons and know they love me

I have the loveliest, most interesting friends and godchildren any man could hope for

I've eked out a modest talent for over thirty years and bought myself a lovely life

I adore Milo and Minou

I am a lucky, lucky man

Mel thanks you for your love and support
